How Google Summer of Code Works

- 1.  Propose a project for approval by a mentoring open source organization
- 2.  Code the summer away
- 3.  Achieve Ultimate Glory
(and get a nice paycheck)

Google Summer of Code is a global program that offers students stipends to write code for open source projects. We have worked with the open source community to identify and fund exciting projects for the upcoming summer.

PROGRAM TIMELINE

Off Season
OCTOBER - JANUARY

Org Application Starts:
February 03 at 19:00 UTC

2 months, 1 week remaining

Take Time to

ChooseYourOwnAdventure

Whether you are just getting started in open source or trying to build a community around your project, you should decide what else you want out of a project. Communities come in all shapes and sizes.

Participating in Open Source can be more than just pushing code around

Plone outlasted 2 major relationships, too many minor ones, 3 cities, 4 “normal” jobs, 2 startups

First people I talk to in the morning (pre-coffee even!) and the last people I talk to at night

Worldwide network of coworkers/friends/extended family

Travel isn't just for vacation

AdventureAsStatusQuo

The best part of working with the world is experiencing it!

A global, well traveled community creates

Natural Diversity

“Diversity” does not mean “women”. It means different countries, backgrounds, sexual preferences, clients and pants. The Plone community is tolerant of slim, straight, tall, short, unisex, imported and even apple bottom.

The 2013 Plone Foundation Executive Board: 7 people representing 4 countries, 5 accents, 3 sexual preferences (openly), non-profit, for profit, big companies, individual contractors, and personalities ranging from troll to peace maker.

A wide-angle photograph of a large lecture hall or auditorium filled with people. The seating consists of red theater-style chairs arranged in rows. Most seats are occupied by individuals, many of whom are looking towards the front of the room where a presentation is likely taking place. The room has multiple levels of balconies with red railings. In the foreground, the back of a person's head is visible, and they are looking at a laptop screen. The laptop screen displays the text "collective.schedule" followed by a URL "github.com/netsight/collective.schedule".
